CHRYSLER "60"

INCOMPARABLE VALUE

Chrysler "60" is supplying one of the four great markets into which the total motor car demand is divided.

It was planned by Walter P. Chrysler and his engineers to deserve—by plainly giving greater value—the greater proportion of that market.

Like all Chrysler cars, the "60" was given outstanding qualities unusual in cars of its type and class.

The Chrysler principle is to give clear evidence, by performance and long life, of being beyond comparison—and that evidence is plain and unmistakable in the Chrysler "60".

It is unusual in its class in that its model number, Chrysler "60", means literally sixty miles and more per hour.

That, in turn, is an index of its characteristically sound design and construction—for the Chrysler "60" does not merely deliver 60 miles and more per hour in spurts, but if need be would do so for days, weeks and months.

New elements of power, new elements of speed, new elements of instant and easy obedience to the steering wheel, new elements of smartness, have been brought into the class now led by the Chrysler "60".

These qualities and qualifications are so marked that the Chrysler "60" as a car, and its prices as a medium of value, proclaim themselves untouched and unapproached by any rival.

Chrysler performance, long life and quality. Roomy, luxurious bodies with beautiful mohair upholstery in enclosed models. Attractive new color harmonies. Sixty miles, and more, per hour. Lightning acceleration. Amazing economy of 22 miles to the gallon. Characteristic Chrysler smartness and beauty. Phenomenal riding ease. Chrysler four-wheel hydraulic brakes. Oil-filter and air-cleaner. Full pressure lubrication. Seven-bearing crankshaft. Impulse neutralizer. Manifold heat control. Road levelizers, front and rear. The new lighter six Chrysler "60" is the lowest-priced Six ever built which combines all these fine car features.

A company insuring jewelry and valuables against disappearance or loss (not robbery) transacts an enormous business with the wealthy and well-to-do based solely upon the moral risk.

It is very significant that the initial investigation is to ascertain whether or not the applicant pays his or her bills promptly or as agreed.

The habit of paying bills in full by the 10th is easily acquired, or if you have purchased certain merchandise on special terms, to pay exactly as contracted.

If you are not now among the thousands who do so, try the plan at least once and see the satisfaction that follows.

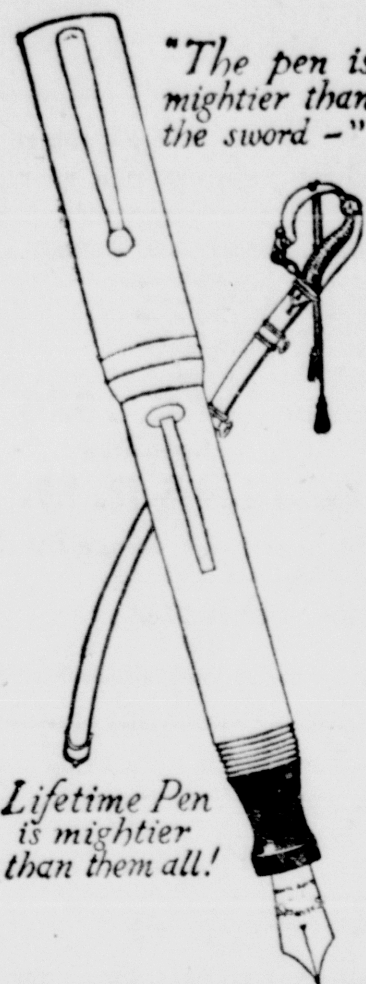

In addition, we know that payment of bills in full by the 10th of each month, or exactly upon the terms as agreed, will greatly benefit the individual, and aid materially in the general prosperity of all business interests

THE ELECTION.

The election of Tuesday, November 2nd, passed off very quietly both over the state and locally. The vote was light all over the state, but the Democratic ticket rolled up its usual overwhelming majority. The Republican state ticket made a very weak showing.

In Medina County, little interest was manifested and the lightest vote in years was polled—1454 votes out of a possible voting strength of over three thousand.

C. J. Wiemers is offering some choice Mammoth Bronze turkey toms for sale for breeding purposes. These birds are prize winning stock that have taken premiums at the Dallas Fair. Mr. Wiemers paid $18.00 for the sire of his birds when he was eight months old and now, at the age of two and a half years, he weighs forty pounds. It pays to raise good poultry, and that is the kind Mr. Wiemers has.

The Misses Zuberbueler, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zuberbueler of Comstock, spent last week-end here with their aunt, Mrs. Joe Hueser. The young ladies are students at Our Lady of the Lake Academy in San Antonio.

Elsewhere we give a tabulated report of the more important contested offices.

The Sheriffs' race proved a surprise to many election dopesters, the handsome vote given Mr. Brod by his neighbors at D'Hanis and the smallness of the vote in some other places upsetting their calculations and making the race very close. Sheriff Bader was re-elected by a majority of 31 votes.

All amendments seem to have carried over the state, but Medina County voters rolled up an adverse vote on them all.

In the San Antonio district, Congressman Wurzbach seems to have been a easy winner, and will remain the "lone Republican" from the Lone Star state in the National Congress.

In the D'Hanis Commissioners Precinct, J. B. Ney was re-elected.

In the Justice of the Peace Precinct at Devine, W. B. Hardeman, present incumbent running as an independent, defeated J. C. Thompson, the Democratic nominee.

Lindenburg was elected constable over Boehle at Quihi, and Henry Haller constable at Castroville over Frank Tschirhart.

Machinery troubles for the past three weeks has greatly handicapped us, thrown us behind on everything and caused much to be left undone that should have been done. In fact, it would have been difficult to have gotten the paper out at all last week had not Mr. Biediger of the LaCoste Ledger kindly allowed our operator, Will Ernest Newton, to finish up last week's copy on his machine Friday at LaCoste. Arrival of a spring for the machine from New Orleans enabled us to get it back in commission about the middle of the week and we hope to get out in fair shape and but little delayed this week.

A man arrested here some two weeks ago by Deputies C. J. Bless and Charles Schuehle, on suspicion of having burglarized several houses at Uvalde, has confessed to the robberies and gave his name as Claude Braswell. He claimed credit for a number of burglaries in various towns adjacent to San Antonio but this may be a ruse to protect his confederates in crime and it might be well to still keep a blunderbuss handy and sleep with your trigger finger awake.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

The Truth Seekers Sunday School Class met at the home of Mrs. O. A. Fly Friday night for the purpose of celebrating Hallowe'en. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out in refreshments, decoration and dress.

The spooks, witches and ghosts all gathered in the living room which was in darkness, with the exception of one jack-o-lantern in the center of the room. The men were asked to fit a shoe that was selected from a basket of shoes, on one of the ghosts. Every one unrobed. We were fortunate enough to be honored by the presence of Madam Fortunata who told every one's fortune. They then took turns trying to bite the apple on a string. Each one guessed how many Hallowe'en jelly beans were in a jar. Mr. Reily guessed he number and was awarded the prize.

Refreshments of coffee, chicken salad, potato chips, cheese straws and pumpkin pie were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. Merriman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kollman, Mrs. Laughinghouse, Mrs. Shoop, Mrs. Alfred Schweers, Miss Lela Laughinghouse, Miss Emma Muennink, Miss Lucille Woolls, Miss May Routt, Mr. and Mrs. B. Carle, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bulgerin, and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Fly.

CAPONIZING BEGINS IN MEDINA

The first caponizing demonstration in Medina County was put on by J. P. Forgason recently with excellent results. Not only did the owner of the flock learn the trick, but a whole class of Vocational students of the Yancey community as well. The owner declared that she intended to caponize some fowls every year.—Extension Service Farm News.

CRACK MUSICAL ORGANIZATION PLAYS HERE ARMISTICE DAY.

The Pearsall Municipal Band, 25 strong will furnish the music for Hondo's big Armistice Day celebration. This band is one of the few in this section which is financed solely by a municipal tax.

The leader is Lieut. A. Fred J. Fisher of the Pearsall band, and veteran of two armies during the war. From the outbreak of the war in 1914, Lieut. Schmeider served as band leader of the 110th Canadian Infantry. He was returned to Canada late in 1916, suffering from wounds received in action.

When the United States entered the war, he was appointed band leader of the 125th Infantry (Detroit's Own) and served overseas with this outfit until July 31, 1919. He now holds a commission as first lieutenant and band leader of the 90th Division, Reserves.

People who heard the band at the Frio County Fair commented on its snappy military swing and splendid discipline. Hondo will hear some good music Armistice Day.

HONDO USING NATURAL GAS.

The gas has arrived! Hondo has never been short on gas—of a certain kind. But it remained for the Western Gas & Fuel Co. to bring a supply of the worthwhile kind. Mention of the arrival of pipe-laying within the town was mentioned last week but it will be some time before its use will become general. The cool weather of the first of the week and the necessity of heating the Hotel Armstrong building hurried up the management and it laid about three-quarters of a mile of private piping and is now burning natural gas from the Hondo gas fields.

SOPHIAN CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Sophian Club will be held at the school house Wednesday afternoon, November 10. The study will be "Edgar Allen Poe: Poetry and Short Story".

BABY BETTY PLEASES.

The Colonial's first presentation of its November vaudeville bill was given to a crowded house Wednesday night.

The feature was Baby Betty in a Musical and Dance review with Roy Gordon at the piano.

This review by Baby Betty, the child star of the stage and screen, pleased the audience, both on its artistic merits and the clean moral tone of its presentation.

If this is to be the class of vaudeville that is to distinguish all the Colonial presents its management is to be commended on its enterprise and good judgment and its patrons on the entertainment that is in store for them.

Next Wednesday the Colonial presents Pat and Chase, a Ukulele pair of singers and dancers.

IT RAINED.

After a protracted dry spell and one that has delayed oat-planting far beyond the usual time for it in this section, the rain at last came. Monday was a wet soggy day, with intermittent showers all day which aggregated .60 of an inch. It rained nearly all Monday night, a slow drizzly rain, and this amounted 1.08 inches. The total of 1.68, falling so slowly and soaking into the ground so thoroughly has put a fair planting season in the ground and oat growers are busy seeding their fields. The rain was general over the county and heavier at some points than locally.

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

To be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and aching. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

No. 399.
Emil Wolff
vs.
R. N. Deckert.

In Justice Court, Prec. No. One, Medina County, Texas.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Medina County, Texas, Greetings:

You are hereby commanded to summons R. N. Deckert, defendant, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in the Hondo Anvil Herald, a newspaper published in Hondo, Medina County, Texas, to said R. N. Deckert, to appear at the next regular term of the Justice Court of Medina County, to be held at the court house thereof in Hondo, on the 1st Monday of December, 1926, the same being the 6th day of December, 1926, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 399, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 6th of October, 1926, wherein Emil Wolff, is Plaintiff, and R. N. Deckert is Defendant, said petition alleging an open account for the sum of $72.66 with a credit of $25.50, leaving a balance of $70.16, now due, owing the plaintiff for threshing oats for the defendant.

Herein fail not, but have before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have served the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court in the town of Hondo, Medina County, Texas, this 12th day of October, 1926.

(L. S.) A. M. LAMM,
Justice of the Peace in and for 4t. Medina County, Texas.

CROP PRICE-FIXING DANGEROUS

Government price-fixing seems to be a success in non-competitive industries, such as railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone, etc.; but in a highly competitive industry like agriculture, a professor of rural economics in a large Eastern university says there are two fatal objections to it: First, it will not work; second, it is always done for the consumer as against the producer. He says:

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work, if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, production of all commodities and rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work; but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices and yet other prices.

"The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers.

"The farmer who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose."—Selected.

magnificent pair of shoulders developed on the Aggie football team, and the writer supplied the "before taking" picture. The schools were practically all up to department standards so we preached health, agricultural clubs, and community organization. One rural school had a regular health inspection and nearly 75% of the pupils showed defects. Chest expansion measurements were given in another school and the lung capacity of the boys showed 25% under normal. When these facts were brought to the attention of business men and farmers, Sup't. Saathoff got the backing needed to arrange for a thorough health inspection by doctors and nurses for every rural school in Medina County. These records will be put in graphic form, and the graphs from year to year will show the improvement in rural health conditions resulting from definite health education. Medina County is one of the most healthful sections of the state, and the tests referred to which show about 25% more physical defects than would be found in a like number of town pupils, will be duplicated in most rural communities throughout the state. For years about ninety-five cents of our public health dollar has been spent on the children in towns and cities and five cents on the country boys and girls, and results are beginning to show.

gricultural clubs and community organizations must stand or fall together, and in Medina County they are short. Just as the Boy's and Girl's Ag Clubs were well under way a two years drought hit the county, and the County Agent was called higher and a new man arrived when conditions were at their worst. The drive is now on to bring these essential rural community activities up to the standard. Leaders of the Parent Teachers Association in Hondo are meeting with the patrons of rural schools and helping to organize local associations. Run-Down gave out easily

"MY health wasn't any account at all," says Mrs. H. L. Cayton, of Washington, N. C. "I would start to do my housework and I would give out before I had done anything at all. I did not have any strength, and if I did the least thing it seemed to tax me so I could not finish. I was run-down sure enough."
"Several of my friends had taken Cardui and they said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' I knew I needed something to build up my general health and to increase my strength."
"Finally one day when I was recovering from a spell of sickness, I decided to try Cardui. I got a bottle and began to take it. I could notice that I was improving as my appetite got better and I did not give out nearly so quick. I took several bottles and I felt lots better."
"Two years ago I decided to take it again. It built me up and made me feel like a different person. It is the grandest medicine for women that I know anything about."

THE LAST NOVEL
Ever Written By GENE STRATTON-PORTER
Just Starting in McCall's
Shortly after this beloved novelist's sudden death nearly two years ago, Mrs. Porter's daughter found among her mother's papers the complete manuscript of a novel—"The Magic Garden"—a romance as delicate, as whimsical, as satisfying as that last fiction success, "The Keeper of the Bees." And now "The Magic Garden" is just starting serially in McCall's. Don't miss this story of a poor little rich girl who ran away to find love.

MELON LICE AND CUCUMBER DOZEN VIEWS ON NECESSARY BEETLES CAN BE CON- TROLLED.

By R. R. Reppert, Entomologist.

Dusting with nicotine sulphate dust has become the approved method of controlling the melon louse and cucumber beetle, and as these insects begin their work early in the season, a brief description of the method is in order.

Nicotine sulphate of forty percent strength, the kind extensively used as a liquid spray, is mixed with an inert carrier of fine texture. In our section the most available substance that is suited to this purpose is hydrated lime.

Varying mixtures may be made, the most common strength containing two percent actual nicotine sulphate. For this strength five pounds of the forty percent nicotine sulphate must be mixed with one hundred pounds of hydrated lime. For a three percent strength seven and a half pounds of the liquid must be used, for four percent, ten pounds, and so on.

If this substance can be purchased freshly mixed from a reliable dealer, it will not pay to mix it at home. None should be used that has been stored from some time. It can be mixed at home by placing the lime in a tight barrel through an opening cut in the side, sprinkling the required amount of nicotine sulphate on the lime, introducing a quantity of rounded pebbles to break the lumps, closing the opening tightly, and then rolling the barrel slowly until the materials have been reduced to a fine dust by the action of the pebbles. The pebbles are then removed by means of a screen.

The mixture may also be made by means of a box, midway between top and bottom of which are nailed cleats and on these a brass screen of twenty mesh to the inch or finer. After securing as even a mixture of the lime and nicotine sulphate as is possible, by sprinkling, the mixture is thrown on this screen and worked through by means of a coarse brush.

The dust is applied by means of any of the various dusters on the market. It is not effective at temperatures below seventy degrees, and hence should be dusted over the plants on a warm day and when the air is quiet so the dust cloud will hang over the plants.

A two percent dust will control the louse, but a six percent nicotine dust is best applied for the control of the cucumber beetle.

An effective way of dusting for the cucumber beetle, as well as for the first lice, is described in the following sentences. A tight box measuring about twelve inches in all dimensions is secured. Turn the box open side down. In the bottom, now turned upward, cut a hole about four or five inches in diameter, and around the edges of this tack a coarse muslin or cheese cloth bag, so it hangs downward about five inches into the interior of the box. After filling this bag not more than three-quarters full of the prepared dust, cover with a lid hinged to the box, and padded so the dust cannot escape upward. For further convenience, two inch strips are nailed to opposite sides of the box extending upward about three feet to serve as handles.

After loading with a quantity of the dust this box is set down over a plant with a jar to release a quantity of the dust. It should be allowed to remain over the plant for about one minute—longer will be more effective and will not injure the plant. A battery of ten or more of these boxes will keep one person busy and allow sufficient time for fumigating each plant.

For killing lice after the plants have made further growth, dependence must be placed on dusting this material over the plants in the open, for which a quiet day must be selected. The Extension Service is at present interested in determining whether it will not pay to dust large vines under a cover of canvas, or muslin, dragging a large sheet over the vines while dusting under the forward edge, so as to expose each individual plant to the dust for at least one minute. Our plan is to sew into the two edges of the cloth a light chain, to hold it to the soil surface. We hope to determine the practicability of this in the more southern portions of the state early in the season so as to be able to give definite advice later to the growers in sections farther north. At the present, however, this is only mentioned as a suggestion to whoever may care to try it independently.

In controlling the melon louse, late heavy infestation can often be prevented by beginning early; consequently melon growers are advised to be on the watch and get the first lice in whatever part of the field they may appear.

SAN ANTONIO ICHTHYOL MINING CORPORATION.
By Frank P. Carle, President.

By Rich Lucas.

First: Nitrogen is usually by far the most deficient element in all soils except such as river bottoms, loess deposits, and similar very rich land. It is the element drawn upon the heaviest by most crops. By washing and soil erosion nitrogen is the element most easily washed and leached away.

Second: Nitrogen produces plant growth. It nourishes all crops, making them healthy and luxuriant. Many of the money crops are planted in the early spring when the soil is cold and apt to be unduly wet from spring rains. Bacterial life is more or less dormant at this period (under conditions of cold and wet) since they work best under moderately dry, hot environments. Without sufficient nitrogen in available form at this period, a crop will not flourish. It will become stunted. Final results — poor, unprofitable yields.

Third: Nitrogen causes heavier root as well as top growth. The more root system a plant has—the more plant food it is capable of picking up and assimilating, the larger the yield the crop can support and mature. The larger the root system formed the more humus will be produced when the crop is harvested and the roots decay.

Fourth: Nitrogen being applied to fall planted small grains at planting time causes them to better establish themselves before cold weather arrives checking their growth, and they will thus better get thru the cold, hard winter months. Nitrogen also has the effect of causing the grain plants to stool more freely whereby more grain can be produced.

Fifth: Nitrogen is by no means a stimulant but a true plant food. Especially is it useful for market gardening crops, so truckers find its heavy though judicious use very profitable. Nitrogen pushes crop growth from the time the seed germinates until the crop is ready to be put on the market. By free use of nitrogen, crops grow rapidly and are thus in prime shape for the earliest market which is the market that commands the highest price. Result — greatest profit to its user.

Sixth: Nitrogen is secured in many forms. It is applied for a profit so only the form that is quickly available should be considered. Thus an investment in nitrogen repays for itself many fold in a minimum of time. Such nitrogenous materials as hoof meal, leather scraps, hair, etc., are too slow, in fact many take several seasons to break down and become available. Money unwisely spent.

Seventh: The continual use of some nitrogen carriers has been proven to make the soil sour; therefore, use some alkaline form. It sweetens the soil.

Eighth: Some nitrogen carriers contain a few per cent of nitrogen. Others as much as fifteen. The fifteen per cent carrier costs a little more than one containing only two or three per cent yet is very, very much cheaper when you figure to the units of nitrogen plant food contained which is what you are paying for. Non food fillers are valueless to plants.

Ninth: Transportation charges are yet too high. Buying a low grade nitrogen you must pay heavily for useless tonnage hauled. More for sacks. So on. You may have a delivered price, yet the company took into consideration the necessary freight and added to your price. Your name may be Jones, in which case Jones pays the freight. Probably your name is not Jones, yet you are a farmer, the consumer, so you pay the freight any way.

Tenth: Nitrogen is not ammonia. When you note a fertilizer's ammonia content printed on a sack remember to divide it by four-fifths. You then get what you are paying for—the real nitrogen content.

Eleventh: Nothing can take the place of nitrogen. No matter what form your nitrogen carrier is in which you apply, plants can not use until it is in the form of a nitrate. Thus for a time saver and for best results, use a form already in the nitrate form.

Twelfth: Nitrogen makes larger and better crops. More crops means more money to your bank account. More money means good, careful, many more prosperous farmers.

BEEKEEPING FOR THE FAMERS

Edited by Eugene Holloway.

TRANSFERRING BEES TO MODERN HIVES.

Honey has been recognized as an important food for man since early Bible days. Yet beekeeping as an industry made slow progress until 1859 when the Rev. L. L. Langstroth gave the world the movable comb bee hive, which with other inventions such as Comb Foundation the bee smoker the hone extractor and others have brought about advancement until at present beekeeping is recognized as one of the country's modern industries.

The last census showed that there were 800,000 beekeepers in the United States, producing 250,000,000 pounds of honey and 1,000,000 pounds of beeswax annually. The total value of these apary products was $30,000,000 in 1919. Still there are some people who will tell you that beekeeping does not pay, saying that they have kept bees for many years and have secured very little honey during that time. A closer investigation will reveal that most of those so-called beekeepers only have a few swarms of native bees in box or log hives, and not going about them until they want some honey. That is the kind of beekeeping that does not pay.

For the benefit of those who are keeping bees in non-moveable comb hives and wishing to change to modern hives and methods, I will give two of the best methods of transferring bees.

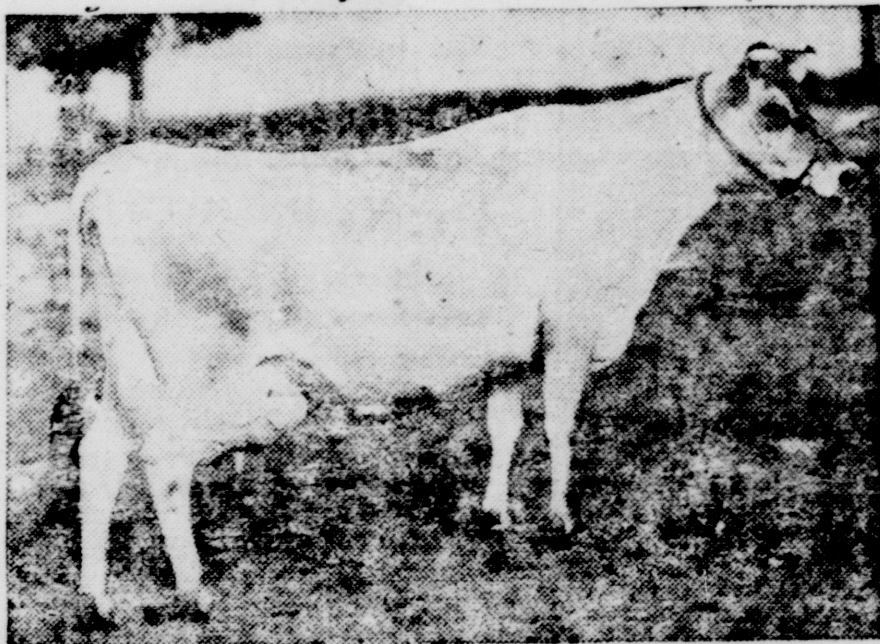

Plan No. 1.: When the colony to be transferred swarms, hive the swarm in a modern hive, and place it on the stand of the old hive, placing the old box hive close beside it. Seven days later move the old colony in the opposite side of the newly hived swarm. Repeat this again about a week later. By doing this we throw all the flying bees in the new hive and in about twenty-one days from the time the colony swarms all the brood will have emerged and the old box hive is ready to break up. The few remaining bees are to be drummed out and united with the new colony, by first drawing about two frames of bees from the new hive and shaking the bees therefrom at the entrance with those from the old hive. In this way they are so thoroughly mixed that they do not fight. In most cases there will be a young queen with the few bees from the old hive, which will of course throw two queens in one hive, but don't worry the bees will see to this, selecting the one best able to serve the colony and killing the other.

It is easy to see that when using the above method of transferring that the queen goes right ahead to laying in the new hive, while the brood in the old hive hatches and the bees united with the swarm, thus making a powerful colony that will gather a good crop of honey.

Method No. 2.: Is not so good as the first one, and should be used only when it is not so the first can be used. Yet this plan works reasonably well if pains are taken in carrying it out.

The following will be needed if the job is to be done properly: A small table or other flat surface covered with a soft cloth, a hammer and chisel, a box with bottom but no top, which should be the right size to fit the old hive. Plenty of cotton wrapping twine must also be available.

Select a still day after the first of April, when the bees are bringing in some fresh nectar. Go to the colony to be transferred and smoke it at the entrance until the bees set up a loud roaring, when the cover is to be removed and the empty box fitted over the hive. With two sticks about two feet long and something near the size of a broom handle, drum steadily on the sides of the hive until the bees leave the combs and cluster in the empty box above, when they can be set aside until needed. With the hammer and chisel, remove one side of the old box hive and cut the combs out in just as large pieces as possible. When you come to a comb containing worker brood, lay it on the table and cut so that it will fit in one of the frames of the new hive. Fit the comb in the frame and wrap some of the twine around the frame and all to keep it in place until the bees have time to fasten securely, when they will remove the twine. Hang these filled frames in the new hive as they are filled, which is now on the stand of the old box hive. Remember that the more frames you fill with comb, the better, and it doesn't matter if there are several pieces in one frame just so it is full, and is worker comb. When you have finished the comb transferring, and they have been placed in the new hive, the box of bees are dumped at the entrance when they will run right in to their new home. All frames that are not filled with comb, are to be filled with foundation. After a few days this hive is to be examined carefully to ascertain if all is well. If they are not gathering honey enough to carry on the work of comb building, they are to be fed sugar syrup, using equal parts of water and sugar.

PREPARE BARNS AND BARN-LOTS FOR WINTER.

This is the month when the barns and barnyards should be put in condition for the winter. Mud and moisture is probably a greater obstacle here in the South to livestock going well during the winter than cold and snow is in northern latitudes. There is little need for protection against cold, even for dairy cows and young stock, but there is need for dry, clean quarters for these animals. Our barnlots too often get in a horrible condition during the winter and the mud and slush is not only bad for the stock but is also most disagreeable to those who must feed and care for them.

It is probably impracticable to entirely prevent muddy barnlots, but something can be done by drainage and other means to lessen the depth of the mud. Certainly floors can be raised, and bedding provided to furnish dry sleeping quarters for the stock. The walls can be made tight so as to prevent drafts and the roofs can be put in condition to keep the sheds and barns dry. There is, in nearly every place, enough coarse grass and other material allowed to waste that if gathered and stacked would furnish bedding for the stables. Its manurial value and the comfort it will give the livestock ought to pay for the labor of the saving.—Tait Butler in Progressive Farmer.

ARM ISOLATION VANISHING.

As long as there have been cities there have been paved streets, and asphalt, which we think of usually as a modern product, was used in ancient Babylon by Nabopolassar who was the first to use it for street construction.

His son, Nebuchadnezzar, followed his example, and upon one street which he was particularly proud, used to be placed a tablet calling upon his people to "traverse this street in joy" and wish him "eternal life and well-being."

Pompeii built sidewalks of asphalt, and was the first to raise the center of her asphalt streets in order to gain off the water.

Modern highways are transforming farm life in many states, relieving it of its loneliness and placing in ready contact with all that is going on in the world.

Good roads present more than motorists zipping along the highway, trucks moving from town to town, the finer picture is that of rural homes linked together, with the men, women and children of the farms brought nearer one another.

Social life in the farming sections is possible today, because of the constantly increasing web of hard-surfaced roads, and such life is becoming the envy of city folk.

Only a few years ago, there was little or no state highway construction that is now proving an aid to consolidation of rural schools.—Selected.

WHAT THEY SAY.

The belief that honesty belongs to the country and corruption to the city is unadultered moonshine. Collier's.

I don't know who invented work, but I do maintain that he should have remained on the job and finished it.—The Game Breeder.

Conferences and resolutions have their place but they will not take the place of action. The great need of agriculture today is local leadership.—Hoard's Dairymen.

THIS MEANS YOU.

State Comptroller Murphy of New York says:

"The public mind regards billions as if billions were quarters, and millions as if millions were dimes.

"Thrift, the foundation upon which this nation is built, is in danger."

As most of the taxes go for purely local purposes, where the individual taste and the individual vote decide every item of expense, the Murphy comment is a strictly personal matter with every voter and taxpayer. The only way to reduce taxes is to expend less money.

"If the Father deigns to touch with divine power the cold and pulseless heart of the buried acorn and to make it burst forth from its prison walls, will He leave neglected in the earth the soul of man, made in the image of his Creator? If He stoops to give to the rose bush, whose withered blossoms float upon the autumn breeze, the sweet assurance of another springtime, will He refuse the words of hope to the sons of men when the frosts of winter come? If matter, mute and inanimate, though changed by the forces of nature into a multitude of forms can never die, will the imperial spirit of man suffer annihilation when it has paid a brief visit like a royal guest to this tenement of clay? No, I am sure that He Who, notwithstanding His apparent prodigality, created nothing without a purpose, and wasted not a single atom in all His creation, has made provision for a future life in which man's universal longing for immortality will find its realization. I am as sure that we live again as I am sure that we live to-day." —William Jennings Bryan.

THE PILGRIMAGE.

By Fletcher Davis.

We are pilgrims all on life's broad highway,
Journeying with gay steps or slow;
Each traveling on our own destined way
And none knowing whither we go!

And there are heavy burdens to carry
All along life's wearisome road,
And even the weak may never tarry
For time wields a merciless goad!

Then let me but travel life's broad highway
Nor fret at its heat or its toil;
But ever, like a gladsome child at play,
Let nothing the far journey spoil.

Along the way there are by-paths to lure
One to the shady dells of ease;
There are crystal fountains near I am sure
Whose tempting draft our lips would please.

While the road stretches away to the night
And the weary's rest far away;
But let's travel in the strength of our might
Nor from the road be lured to stray.

And let me not long for the peace or rest
That waits at the end of the road,
But rejoice in the journey's gladsome zest
And sharing of another's load.

For the zest of a journey is in the going
And meeting the toil of the day,
And not in the pleasure of foreknowing
What lies at the end of the way!

New methods and discoveries have not only taught us how to grow our corn and hay and how to make cattle pay, but also to raise pork cheaper than we can get it from the West. Our fathers kept razorback hogs that starved much of the year and were then penned up and fattened on corn alone for a few weeks before "hog-killing time". Now the same crops that enable us to make cheap hay and corn also enable us to make cheap pork. Moreover, just as modern science has taught us how to free the South of the scourge of the cattle tick and bovine tuberculosis, so we learned how to inoculate our hogs and prevent the cholera epidemics which in the old days would often wipe out a farmer's entire herd in a few days.—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

FORTY-TWO PARTY.

Mrs. O. H. Miller, Mrs. Felix Richter and Miss Lucille de Montel royally entertained the members of the Ladies' Forty-Two Club Thursday afternoon with a Hallowe'en party.

The hall was decorated in yellow and black, streamers of these colors being draped from a large yellow Jack-o-lantern in the center to the light fixtures. On a small table was arranged orange shapes containing fortunes. These favors went to those making "84" and "158" bids. Before claiming a fortune each winner was obliged to "bite" an apple that hung by a string from the ceiling.

After several games, Mrs. Dr. Jackson held high score and Mrs. Alice Reinhart low.

After a lively search to find places by means of black cat place cards, the guests were served pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream and orange soda-pop. Plate favors were orange colored "surprises" filled with witch teeth. And in the flickering light of the orange tapers which, with yellow cosmos, adorned the centers of the tables the following guests and members spent a merry afternoon: Mesdames Theo. Barnes, Dr. Jackson, Ed. Ney, M. H. Muennink, E. J. Murray, L. J. Brucks, Felix Batot, Earl Boon, Horace Bradley, Ed. Cameron, Fletcher Davis, L. E. Heath, P. Jungman, Earl Starnes, W. O. Rothe, Alice Reinhart, F. H. Schweers, Arthur Rothe, Oscar Schuehle, Aug. Schroeder, Laura Weihausen; Misses Lillian and Bess Brucks, Octavia Davis and the hostesses.

The Club will not meet until Thursday, November 18th, at which time Mesdames Arthur Rothe, Alice Reinhart and Walter Rothe will be the hostesses. The time of meeting has been changed from 3:30 to 3:00 P. M.

IS A GENTLEMAN OF LEISURE NOW.

After almost half a century of almost constant service in the county courthouse, August Hornung resigned from the position of Deputy Tax Collector on the first of the present month and is now enjoying a well earned rest.

Mr. Hornung became connected with the county administration in 1880, some twelve years or so before the county seat was removed from Castroville. For eight years he was Tax Assessor of the county, back in the '80's. But the greater portion of the time he has served as a deputy in the Sheriff's, Assessor's and Collector's offices. Always courteous and always in constant attendance, he will be missed by those having business at the courthouse.

Long as is the usual tenure of office of the Medina County officials, Mr. Hornung has witnessed many changes in the personnel of the county official family, and has seen boys grow into gray-haired men in the service of the county while he labored on with them. His friends will rejoice with him in his ability to retire from the strenuous labors of which he has so long devoted his energies.

In passing, we wish to remark that Mr. Hornung paid this writer the first money we collected as a newspaper man immediately after our purchase of the old Castroville Anvil in Castroville in April 1900, almost 27 years ago. It was $2.50, was paid for an announcement for the office of Commissioner and Mr. Hornung was defeated. That fact has always made us feel like he didn't get the value of his $2.50 and somewhat spoiled the pride we might otherwise have felt in our first "earnings" as a newspaper man.

Soon after that election, Mr. Hornung moved to Hondo, became connected with the Assessor's and the Sheriff and Tax Collector's offices and has been on the job constantly since until his voluntary retirement.

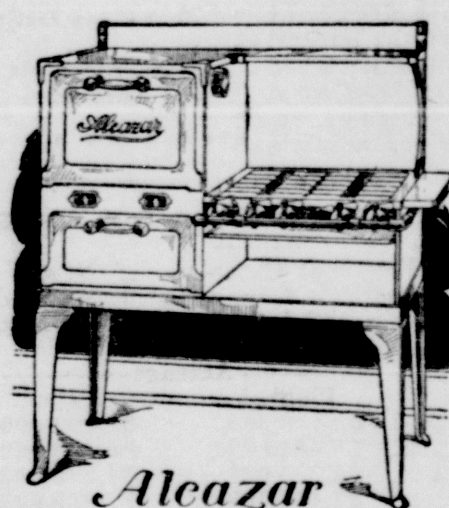

Congratulations to the old veteran, and good luck!
